

Camper Times

April 29, 2009

Spring break stories!

For my spring break, I went to Charleston, a town in South Carolina. We saw lots of great things but my favorite was the haunted jail tour. This tour was about the old city jail that was supposed to be haunted. When we went into the jail, I was already scared. What scared me first was the eerie light and creaking spiral stairs. When I turned around, on the window sill, there was a picture of a angel that had a lit candle on her knee. It was really spooky! The thing that scared me the most of the whole tour, was when the tour guide told us that the jail guard, Cedric, was still in the jail. She said that he still yelled "Get out of my jail!" coming from up stairs. -Amy

Over spring break my family and I went to Greensboro to celebrate a very special holiday called Passover. We had a special meal called Seder. First we went through lots of prayers and other traditions. Finally, we ate a lot of fish, soup, meat, and salad. The Seder wasn't over until one o'clock a.m. On Passover, you are only aloud to eat matzo and food without corn syrup. It also has to be kosher. - Ben

For spring break my family and I went to Florida. First we flew into a town called Fort Lauderdale to pick up ore rental. It was a convertible. When we drove to my grandma's house we put the top down so the wind was in our face. At my grandmas house we swam in the pool and played lots of games. Once we played tennis doubles. It was my brother and my mom vs. my dad and me. We played 6 sets and my dad and I won 2-4.

On day 4 we drove to The Keys and snorkeled in the Atlantic ocean. We even saw a shark. By day 5, we really loved being on vacation. Who doesn't! we headed down to Key West, and walked around town. At dusk we strolled to Mallory square to see street performers. We saw fire jugglers. Finally we drove up to Miami and swam at the beach. The water was really clear. Finally we made are way back to Fort Lauderdale and made are way home. - Eva

Caterpillars vs. Ms. Coleman

Ms. Coleman has recently come back from a journey to Slidell Louisiana. She was there with a group of teachers and scientists to research caterpillars and how they affect the climate. We asked her a few questions.

Q:What will caterpillars

tell us the climate?

A: The relationship to how things react to events in a larger eco system.

Q: What surprised you the most?

A: That there is so much to learn about Caterpil-lars and how important they are.

Q:What is one word you would use to describe the over all trip in one word.

A:Inspiring

For more info go to www.earthwatch2.org/lff/coleman/

Editors: Ellie Cohn, Hunter Pearce, Eva Killenberg, and Rebecca Zuo

Volume 1, Issue 7

Special points of interest:

- Ms. Coleman is back!!!!
- Our next class auction will be this Friday.
- Kees' birthday was on the 26th of April.
- We are learning about poetry in writing.

Inside this issue:

Spring Break	1
Caterpillars vs. Ms. Coleman	1
Classroom Wish List	1
Spectacular Specials	2
I Am Poems	2
Star Campers	2

End of Grade Test Dates

Reading
Tuesday, May 12th
Math Day 1
Wednesday, May 13th
Math Day 2
Thursday, May 14th

Classroom Wish List:

Tape Dispenser Refills
Colored Copy Paper
Cardstock Paper
Healthy Snacks
Pencils
Auction Donations

