

Camper Times

Recorder Karate

We are only two belts away from being the first class ever to get all black belts! On Monday, March 9th, Kevin made great progress by earning his blue, red, brown, and black belts. Great job!

Coming up in April we will be visiting the NC Symphony in Raleigh. We will play "America The Beautiful" along with other musicians from around the state.

On February 26th, many of The Campers performed "Cage Full of Blues" during a jam session at African American Heritage night. Thanks to all who participated!

Table Project

Table is an organization that gives local kids in need backpacks full of healthy, non-perishable food items. In class we are divided up into small teams. We have to decide what foods to put in the backpack. Our budget is $315 which we are stretching as far as possible by searching through grocery store circulars and cutting coupons.

On Tuesday, March 17th, we will go grocery shopping and purchase all the food. If you would like to accompany us on the shopping trip, do not forget your permission slip. If you need another copy of the permission slip, please visit www.mscoleman.com.

We are thrilled to be participating in such a wonderful project to help kids in our community.

Social Studies

Ahoy mates! We have been switching classes during Social Studies as a part of our passports through North Carolina project.

During our week in Mr. C's class, we learned about the most vicious pirates around such as Calico Jack and Blackbeard, aka Edward Teach. In class we made pirate flags and wanted posters. Also, we took a quiz to see how much we learned about Blackbeard.

Oooooaaaaaonee! With Ms. Coleman, we learned about Native Americans. We studied the rituals and customs of the Cherokee tribe. On Friday, we made fry-bread and dream catchers. It was great fun!

Our Live Wax Museum!

Thanks to all our parents and friends who came to our LIVE Wax Museum last week. We had a great time researching famous North Carolinians, learning about their lives, and becoming them. Each camper dressed up, made a timeline, created a trading card and recited a speech. Some of the characters in our museum were Jim "Catfish" Hunter, James Taylor, Mia Hamm, Michael Jordan, and James K. Polk. Each adult paid a nickel to get into the museum and we earned tickets for each performance. We made over $8.00! We are going to use the money to buy our class a special treat for a job well done. It was truly a spectacular event!

Advice Column

Dear Editor,

I need help finding a friend. People do not seem to like me. Can you help?

Sincerely,

Helpless

Dear Helpless,

Why don't you just start out being nice like picking up things they drop and playing with them. If that doesn't work, go ask them if you can play. It may seem awkward at first, but it is probably the right thing to do.

Sincerely,

Editors
